FAMOUS ALIBIS

TWENTY EARS AGO TODAY

Coach Earl Kuhny recently released the probable line-up for Central's 1927-28 basketball squad that will compete in the local conference. The conference will include such big name teams as Fort Wayne Central, Muncie Burris and a few of the other nearer teams to South Bend.

This year's Bear squad is loaded with speed (four of the first stringers can run the entire length of the court in less than two minutes flat), and has the potentialities of being a great triple-threat team in that they can dribble, pass and at certain times hit a bucket from the field.

Starting positions include at guards, Cole and Sanford. These two handle the ball with expert care and account for at least ten per cent of the team's total scoring. Now this Cole is a fine player but it is rumored that he spends too much time with the fair sex, thus he is pretty sleepy during the tilts and this means that his giant and tricky teammate, Sanford, must be the keynote in getting the ball into play. J. R. Smith, who has been playing ball for the Bruins now for seven years (four years as a senior), will display his hook shot from the center spot. The front wall of forwards will be Kindy (the one who dribbles with one hand and reads a math book in the other), and C. Dal Sasso, who incidentally is the one man on the squad who does the length of the court in a full run in a little over two minutes.

This team possesses everything a championship team needs and strictly off the record it is rumored that a lad from over at the Junior High will be coming up to the squad one of these days. This youngster towers at five feet four and goes by the name of Charles Stewart.

Best of luck to Mr. Kuhny and his basketball "five" in the coming competition next year.

Our sectional and regional ticket trials are over at last! First Citizen C. L. Kuhn, chancellor of the ticket office, has announced that henceforth and for evermore, buying tickets will be a pleasure. He has decided to give up teaching in order to spend all his time with students and their ticket troubles. "An hour interview with each prospective buyer," says he. (Reports from Adams have it that the floor bleachers will be removed this summer and new feather-cushioned couches will replace them especially for our dear beloved Centralians.) Mr. Pointer adds that tickets next year will be sold for 25c to allow the scalpers, whose trade will be legalized by then, according to their best friend Walt Kindy, to obtain a bigger profit from their sales. Ah yes; tickets whenever, wherever, and as many as you want from now on. . . .

LESSER NUTS NAME CHARLEY BUDD THE CHIEF NUT

Event Heralded By Fanfare And Grumbling Of "Also-Rans"

Again it is our solemn duty each year to select the boy or girl from among our great galaxy of crackpots here at Central a Chief Nut, King of them all, who will go thru life scarred by this brutal title. The regular formality of tradition was again carried out—even tho we knew who it inevitably would be—the students voted for their choice, the votes were counted, the decision proclaimed, not out loud tho, but stored away in the minds of only two people in all eternity, stored where no one could get at it. And why not?—No minds!

Well, in our little cubby hole in room 221—ah, there's a great place—the precious pieces of paper were laid out and counted when no one was around. At last the long awaited fact was known. Yes sir, we take much pleasure to announce that this year's heir to the title of Chief Nut is none other than that master of wit and miscalculation, old rough and ready, blood and guts, Charles "Muscles" Budd.

Central 43, Washington 38
Our blond boy from senior home room 217 is the Disraeli of modern America—he dresses like the nut he is. He shaved when he was two—the top of his head tho—which accounts himself — and the ants don't mind either. Our very thots — those we don't wish upon others — are with him all the way . . . to the bottom. If he doesn't look like a nut, just get to know him, but remember, he tries hard.

for his screwy butch. You weren't going to blame Mother Nature, were you? Our boy of the year is most frequently seen sporting his little Scotch plaid tossed cap and red hand-painted tie which in daytime portrays a timid pony, but at night sparkles with "Kiss me in the dark, baby!", and entering a room with one hand stretched high, bellows with "Well, I'm back!" . . . but he never says from where . . . I wonder . . . Oh, no, it couldn't be!

In the serious seconds of his life Mr. Budd prophesies that he will be a great big rich business man some day, "Yes sir, you may think it's funny, but you just wait and see, I'll show you." Worry and regret are also characteristics — imagine it — of Nut Budd and everyday he enters class with: "Are we going to have a test today?" The looks and laughs of his classes either cause him to bow his head in silence with "I'm sorry, but you just don't understand me, I guess," or a slap on his cheek with his hand saying: "Oh, my heavensss!" with which his ears light up and his nose picks up and walks away.

But really this Charlie Budd is truly a swollen, I mean swell kid. Intramural debater for his home room, member of the Barnstormer board, and influential member of the Ushers Club, he has made a place for

WHO KILLED COCK ROBIN?
As we walk along the third floor near room 303, we wonder when the rest of the ceiling's plaster is going to fall in and what causes it. Through official sources we've found out that cause. It seems that Maude Crepeau, Ethel Montgomery, and Walt Kindy in their spare time (5-8:30 A. M. and 4 to midnight) enter into Miss M's unused office at the north end of the hall, and through a sliding panel in the wall, go up a stairway into another part of the fourth floor which is a huge room furnished with pool and poker tables and a bowling alley. In one of their most exciting bowling games, Ethel grabbed the 100 lb. ball with all five fingers, while Maude kept repeating to Ethel "to watch that swing" and after a fast throw fell to the floor with a thud (the ball), as Walter, acting as pin (up)-boy, looked on very enthusiastically. Any more of such accidents up there may cause the entire ceiling to collapse. Thus we have uncovered the mystery of the falling plaster.

LOOK RECORD REVIEW

TOPS IN WAX—Elliot Lawrence and his Band, predicted by LOOK as tops for 1947, offer two of his best waxings to date: They Can't Convince Me and Let's Put Our Dreams Together. These ballads are both done in the "dream" vein, with vocals taken by Jack Hunter. The first side contains an opening chorus played by Elliot's unusual combination of English Horn, two clarinets and bassoon which, when coupled with his piano introduction, serve to provide a highly arresting mood. The Lawrence band plays a listenable type of music, and through the use of unorthodox instrumentation and styling, is now setting a pace that will be picked up by other bands striving for this mood-type music. (Columbia)

Elliot Lawrence

VOCAL STANDOUTS—Mel Tormé, coupled with Sonny Burke's band makes a dreamy, ballad pairing of You're Driving Me Crazy and It's Dreamtime (Musicraft). Columbia has a unique offering of Dinah Shore with Spade Cooley's Orchestra doing a western style ballad—Heartaches, Sadness and Tears. On the backing she joins Morris Stoloff to sing Anniversary Song. Harry Babbitt has a good ballad side of How Are Things In Glocca Morra? with a novelty Oshkosh Wis. for a backing (Mercury). ALSO TOP VOCALS: Tony Martin's Don't Take Your Love From Me (Decca); Pine Top Schwartz handled by Ella Mae Morse and Her Boogie Woogie Four (Capital); Santa Catalina sung by Eddie Howard with his Trio and Band (Majestic); and Roses In the Rain sung by Matt Denniss with Paul Weston and Orchestra (Capitol).

HOT JAZZ FOR COLLECTORS—Blue Note Records present Art Hodes and his "Back Room Boys" in two 10-inch records—Jug Head Boogie and M. K. Blues; Low Down Blues and Back-Room Blues, which provide plenty of the Hodes' piano supported by All Stars. Among the participating musicians are: Max Kaminsky, (trumpet); Jimmy Shirley, (guitar); Israel Crosby, (bass); and Sandy Williams, (trombone). All sides show a free and easy jam style of improvisation.

 TAUGHT BY DEAN M.

Next semester Miss Ethel Montgomery will leave her post as dean of women to undertake the instruction of the new courses in elementary and advanced theory and application of the arts of attraction. This will be a required subject for sophs designed to aid them on getting the most out of their high school career. The course will consist of two parts, eight weeks in learning dress line and a short course in the cultivation of a "come-hither" look. The remainder of the term will be devoted to daily practice in applying the theory. The final exams will consist of a practical demonstration.

All Smilers, Comets, and Spartans are eligible for the advanced courses.

INTERLUDE STAFF RESIGNS FOR A HAPPIER LIFE

Mr. Pointer has just received filled out resignation papers from the adviser and executive position holders on the Central INTERLUDE. It seems that Mr. Cripe has definitely decided to turn all his time into political affairs, since he will be the next Democratic candidate for Mayor of Dogpatch. It has also been stated that Marilyn Glaser has moved her residence to a more convenient location near the poor house where her artistic work of weaving baskets requires the peace and quiet of the country. We find Howard Johnson happily married to tall slender Alexis Smith in the tranquility of New York City. Frances Tschida and Joyce Raih have accepted going to Moscow on a secret mission with Van Johnson and Gregory Peck. After the elopment of Rollie Cooper and Joan Shively they are residing in the African jungles where Mr. Cooper is doing research work on the tsetse fly. Carol Geier is now giving all her time to wrestling at the South Bend Armory with her seasoned opponent Peggy Muessel from Lower Slobovia. And alas we find Lois Gross just finishing her latest book on "Why Students Should Go To."

WELL, WHADDAYA KNOW!

According to a recent announcement made at Central, students will no longer be permitted to do any homework or any type of studying whatsoever. Students have been studying too much. By looking in any teacher's grade book this is quite evident. So it has been very necessary to rule studying out of Central's program. The study hall period will now be considered as a time to catch up on the daily gossip. Any person found studying the trash in school books at this time will be promptly punished. The reasons for this latest declaration of no studying are quite obvious. Studying takes up much valuable time that would be spent to more advantage in Clark's, Gus' or the movies. It clogs your mind so that clean fresh thoughts can't get in. Another reason why studying does not pay is that in future years we don't want to be haunted by the evil thoughts of H₂SO₄, Macbeth and Archimedes. The only evident advantage in studying is that it occupies the teachers' time that they would otherwise spend galavanting around the pool halls. But when they have to stay in school and watch the poor students slaving away, they have no opportunity to go out and become delinquent. So not only the students but the teachers, too, realize that this latest improvement in the school curriculum is one of he best we have ever had. (Just keep on laughing, kiddo.)
